

Introduction

Our bespoke and award-winning programmes have changed the lives of more than 35,000 people across the UK, since 2009.

By designing and delivering a range of tailor-made initiatives, we help people facing different challenges, reach their full potential. This means working with various schools, local councils, youth offending teams and the police.

We also work with businesses wanting to develop their CSR strategy, whilst changing the lives of people across the UK.

Who We Help

Because all our programmes are bespoke, we're able to cater to the individual needs of those we work with, no matter who they are. Over the last decade, we've helped people from all walks of life, including:

- Children with disabilities - to improve physical health, confidence and resilience
- Adults with mental health difficulties - to gain qualifications
- Disengaged students - to re-engage in education or find employment
- Elderly people with health conditions - to improve mobility & independence
- Ethnic minority communities - to engage in weekly physical activity
- Families experiencing socio-economic challenges - to offer respite care & relief

To continue building on our success, we plan to make our programmes accessible to 12,000 people every year, by 2022. To reach this goal, we're seeking new strategic, financial and operational partners.

CSR Benefits

We've developed a unique CSR model, which offers significant and quantifiable benefits that align with various initiatives and employee development programmes. By partnering with us, you'll benefit from:

- Direct Access to our 3,000+ beneficiaries - including segmented demographic groups
- National and regional brand promotion - including direct links to our client base of Central Government, local authorities, charities and educational establishments
- Volunteering opportunities for staff - including direct engagement with projects which support the UK's most 'in need' communities
- Employee health improvement initiatives - through training, mentoring and qualifications from our award-winning tutors
- High profile events & award ceremonies - across the sport, health & education sectors
